A Terrible Accident

DEL NORTE, Col., February 10.—The following was received this morning. Fred W. Gardner a prominent attorney of Silverton, H. W. Morrison and [illegible] Seiler mail carrier, were killed in a snow slide Saturday night at Deep Creek about 85 miles west of here. Their horses started the slide when all were carried down. The bodies were found under four feet of snow.

Proceedings of the Forty-Fifth Congress

SENATE

WASHINGTON, February 10.—Credentials of Senator Carpenter were placed upon file.

Bill introduced by Senator Morrill authorizing the conversion of national gold banks.

Referred.

Also bill amending revised statutes relative to the deposit of bonds by associations.

Referred.

House bill authorizing issue of certificates of deposit of denominations of ten dollars in aid of refunding of public debt passed with amendments increasing the interest to four per cent.

Senator Bayard submitted a resolution requesting the committee on naval affairs to consider and report upon the advisability of making sufficient appropriations for the completion of four double turreted monitors like the Puritan, Amphitrite, Monadnock and Terror now in process of construction. He sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter of the contractors at Wilmington to the effect that the Amphitrite had been upon the ways for several years, resulting in a loss to them because they were prevented from taking other work on account of that vessel occupying the ways.

The resolution was agreed to.

Senator Matthews presented a petition favoring the passage of the bill allowing the use of railroad wires for commercial purposes.

Referred.

The army bill was received from the house and referred to the committee on appropriations.

Senator Withers presented a petition of the Catholic Young Men's National Union, protesting against the discrimination made by the United States government in the appointment of chaplains in the army and navy by which Catholic soldiers and seamen are deprived of the benefit of their religion and an appointment of Indian agents whereby the vast numbers of Indians, who are Catholic, are placed in charge of denominations in which they have no interest or confidence.

Referred.

At the conclusion of Senator McCreary's speech Senator Paddock called up the resolution submitted on the 4th of December last, by Senator Davis, instructing the committee on agriculture to consider what can or ought to be done by the general government to better advance, encourage and foster agricultural instruction. Senator Paddock made a brief speech and the resolution of Senator Davis was agreed to.

The house bill to authorize the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river at or near Lexington, was reported favorably from the committee on commerce and placed on the calendar.

Senator Garland gave notice that on Saturday next he would move to take up the Texas Pacific railway bill. After an executive session the senate adjourned.

HOUSE

Mr. Acklen introduced a bill to restore the franking privilege, as to letters sent or received by members of congress, also a bill to abolish the mileage of members of congress and substitute payment of the actual traveling expenses. Referred.

Mr. Whitthorne moved to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution setting apart Feb. 6 for the consideration of reports of the naval committee on the matters recently investigated by it. Defeated, 1-3 to 107. The house then went into committee of the whole, Mr. Blackburn in the chair, on the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. The bill as reported carries $10,151,475 as against the estimates of $10,090,001, and as against the appropriation of the last session of $13,331,475. Mr. Atkins, chairman of the committee on appropriations, made a statement in regard to the bill and the items. The discussion was interrupted by adjournment.

FOREIGN NOTES

Calcutta dispatches say advices from all points are hugely satisfactory as regards the political and military situation. The rank holds [illegible] the northwest provinces [illegible] are most gloomy.

GENERAL NEWS.

Christiancy Resigns

DETROIT, Feb. 10.—A telegram from Lansing states that the resignation of Hon. I. P. Christiancy as minister to Mexico has been placed in the hands of Governor Crosswell, to take effect upon notice by the President. The following is the notification to the legislature, declaring the office vacant:

More Crookedness

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 10.—A dispatch from Belleville, Illinois, says G. W. Sieber, treasurer of St. Clair county, is a defaulter for about $30,000. He has returned some $15,000, and the balance it is said will be promptly paid by his bondsmen, all of whom of the wealthiest citizens of Belleville, so the county will lose nothing. At last accounts no legal action had been taken against Mr. Sieber.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 10.—At Sumter today Samuel Lee, colored republican recently appointed by the [illegible] of that place was tried and found guilty of official misconduct by the white judge of the circuit court. Lee could not be found but was represented by counsel.

Fires

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Feb. 10.—The old Asbury university building, at Green Castle, occupied by the preparatory departments, the college museum and the Whitcomb library, and also as the armory of the Asbury cadets, burned this afternoon. The building which cost $28,000 in 1825 is a total loss, as is also the museum, valued at $5,000. The Whitcomb library, valued at $7,000, is saving about half. The fire originated in the cellar over a defective flue.

Millers at Law With Each Other

ST. LOUIS, February 10.—The case of the American Middlings Purifier company against several large millers here for infringement of the patent right of Wm. D. Cochrane was commenced here today in the United States circuit court, Judges Nelson of Minnesota, Dillon of Iowa, and Treat of Missouri, on the bench. The case also involves suits against Christian & Co. and others of Minneapolis, and indirectly against a large number of millers throughout the country who are interested. Judges Nelson and Dillon will decide the Minnesota cases and Judges Dillon and Treat the St. Louis cases. The counsel are Rodney Mason of Washington, Chas. H. Blake of New York, and Judge Chester H. Krum of St. Louis for the plaintiff, Fred. N. Judson of St. Louis for the Missouri millers, McCole of Minnesota for the millers of that state and George Harding of Philadelphia for the National Miller Association. It is expected the cases will continue all the week.

Crime.

PITTSBURG, February 10.—A special from Kittanning says Sheriff G. A. Williams, who was convicted at the December term of perjury in the oath of office and using money for election purposes was sentenced today by Judge Buffington two years in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $300. Williams was elected by the republican party and has been in office since January, 1877.

In the case of the 7th ward election board of this city, who were convicted of ballot box stuffing and making illegal returns, sentence was to have been announced on last Saturday, but a motion for a new trial having been filed, the court announced that sentence would be withheld until after the motion has been argued.

The Sioux Men

COUNCIL BLUFFS, February 10.—The surviving seven Cheyenne bucks, captured near Fort Robinson, Nebraska, after a desperate resistance, were taken through Council Bluffs this afternoon en route to Fort Leavenworth, where they will probably be tried for the murder of white settlers in Kansas. Besides these there were fourteen squaws and pappooses in the party, wives and children of the prisoners.

GALVESTON, February 10.—A Fort Sill, I. T. special says Major Wilcox with his command returned from the scout after the renegade Indians from the Fort Sill reservation, and brought 400 Kiowas, Comanches and Apaches. Two hundred are yet out in charge of Captain Nolan. The Indians are peaceably disposed.

FOREIGN.

Eastern Politics

CONSTANTINOPLE, February 10.—The Russian governor of Bulgaria and the consuls of the great powers will attend the inauguration of the Bulgarian government.

It is believed there are differences in the cabinet which must cause the retirement of Kheireddin Pasha, Grand Vizier or Said Pasha minister of justice.

The Russian army in the Balkan peninsula suffers much from spotted typhus.

The Definitive Treaty

LONDON, February 10.—A Constantinople dispatch says the definitive treaty between Russia and Turkey declares peace and cordial relations to be re-established between Russia and Turkey. It provides that the articles of the San Stefano treaty, which were not modified by the treaty of Berlin, shall remain in force. The mode of payment of the war indemnity and compensation to the Russian residents of Turkey who have suffered through the war, is left for future agreement. All prosecutions for aiding the other side during the war are abandoned, and the persons implicated in the Roumelian disturbances are pardoned. The protocol declares that the recognition of the treaty of Berlin, in the present treaty changes neither the character nor the range of power. As Servia, Montenegro and Roumania are independent, Russia leaves them free to come to an understanding for themselves with the porte, relative to their claims for a war indemnity.

A special supplement to the Gazette has been issued containing the order of a privy council, rev. king, after March 3, 1879, article 13 of the foreign animals order, so far as it relates to the United States. Under article 13 American cattle have hitherto been landed with slaughter or quarantine. This order applies to ports of Great Britain only.

The War in Africa

CAPE TOWN via ST. VINCENT, Feb. 10.—On the 21st ult. a British column, consisting of a portion of the 24th regiment, a battery of artillery and 600 native auxiliaries, was utterly annihilated near Lumelia river by 20,000 Zulus, who captured a valuable convoy of 102 wagons, 1,000 rifles, 250,000 rounds of ammunition, 60,000 pounds weight of provisions and the colors of the 24th regiment. It is estimated that 5,000 Zulus were killed and wounded in the battle.

Among the killed on the British side are two majors, four captains, twelve lieutenants and quartermasters of the 24th regiment, two captains of the royal artillery, one colonel, one captain, four lieutenants and the sergeant major of the engineers. Besides twenty-one other British officers commanding native levies. The seven attacks subsequently made by the Zulus have been repulsed and the colony is now somewhat recovering from the utter consternation which at first prevailed. Natal however is in great danger, and disturbance are feared in the Kaffir lands. Lord Chelmsford commander of the expedition has been [illegible] to retire in consequence of the defeat. It is estimated that 700 soldiers were killed, besides the officers enumerated above. The governor Sir Bartle Frere has sent appeals to England and Mauritius for reinforcements. The mail steamer for England was dispatched a day earlier than usual with requests for regiments of infantry and a brigade.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Ex Chief Justice Casey, of the court of claims, died yesterday aged 64.

Senator Johnson, of Virginia, is alarmingly ill and his family has been telegraphed for.

The conference committee on the navy appropriation bill agreed upon a report yesterday afternoon.

The Potter committee will endeavor to conclude their labors this week, that the majority and minority may have time to prepare and present their reports to the house.

The bill introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Ferry to discourage usury and promote legitimate rates of interest, makes it unlawful for banks to allow interest upon deposits of any character. It further provides a tax of 5 per cent on the gross amount of deposit in each year; such tax to be remitted on proper affidavit being made that no interest has been allowed on deposits by the bank.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES

All the trains on the Ohio & Mississippi railroad were detained at Flora station, Ill., from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m., yesterday by the enforcement of the Sunday law.

Gov. Bishop, of Ohio, yesterday declined to commute the sentence of Charles McGill, found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged at Cleveland February 13th. The special plea made before the governor was that McGill was insane.

Wm. Runyon, wife and four of his family, of Queensville, Indiana, were poisoned on Saturday by eating buckwheat cakes. It seems a farmer named Hall had placed arsenic in the barn to kill rats. A portion of it became mixed with buckwheat which afterwards he sold to the parties named. Runyon is quite ill. The others will probably recover.

JOB WORK.

Facilities for Plain and Fancy Job Printing equal to those of any establishment west of the Missouri river.

The Denver Times makes some excellent suggestions to capitalists regarding the treatment of low grade ores in Gilpin and Clear Creek countiss.

The profession has been honored again in the selection of Frank Hall, managing editor of the Times, as Adjutant General. Mr. Hall is a good soldier as well as journalist and his appointment will be acceptable to the militia of the state. Governor Pitkin evidently appreciates the work of the press in the past campaign.

The exhibition of the manufacturers' association of the Northwest in Old Mexico is a grand success. The Mexican authorities have heartily reciprocated in the efforts to promote a freer interchange of commodities between the two countries. President Diaz drew attention to the fact that within a few years the commerce between the two nations had increased from $2,000,000 to $10,000,000, and this is only a tithe of what it may be.

The president is taking care of some of the old war horses who will not be in the next house. General Banks has been appointed United States marshal for Massachusetts. This position is worth $25,000 a year and will be quite a bonanza to the general who is not well off in this world's goods. Martin I. Townsend is appointed United States district attorney for the northern district of New York. Both of these nominations give great satisfaction.

The majority report of the special committee on printing signed by J. C. Helm, R. Douglas and W. D. Todd states that after due investigation that "we are decidly of the opinion that said contract has let to the lowest bidder, and we deem it but simple justice to say that Mr. Clark not only acted honestly, conscientiously and impartially in the matter, but also with an unusual degree of thoughtfulness and care, and that while injustice was done to no bidder for the contract, the interests of the state were carefully and completely protected." The minority report raises a good many technical objections to the course of Hon. W. M. Clark, the adverse influence of which are stultified by the admission in the beginning "that whilst they are of the opinion that the printing contract as awarded by said secretary will cost the state less, if its provisions are properly carried out, than though the contract had been awarded to the lowest bidder." The minority and majority reports both conclude that Mr. Clark accepted the contract which would cost the state least. And as that was what he ought to have done we may consider him vindicated.

The people of Colorado, particularly of southern Colorado, have reason to rejoice over the defeat of a bill that was suddenly brought up before the legislature on Friday last, hurried through the house, amended and twice read in the senate and only defeated by a reference to a committee, when on file for a third reading. The bill was known as House bill 67 and was intended to amend certain sections of the laws relating to corporations. Although it appeared to be general in its character, it was introduced and supported by a certain railroad company and was intended to strike a blow at another road. Its passage would have been the death-blow to railroad building in Colorado by local companies, and certain projected roads in the southern part of the state, the building of which will greatly benefit this and other counties, would have been irrevocably killed. No county in the state was more intesested in defeating the measure than El Paso, and our people are under great obligation to Senato Helm for his intelligent and energetic opposition to the bill. It is questionable whether its passage could have been prevented had it not been for his efforts. He worked unturningly against it until it was dead beyond resurrection. Had the bill as amended by the senate passed that body it would have been gallantly fought in the house by Messrs. Douglas and Phillips. Great credit is also due to Senators Rhodes, of Laramie, and Ellsworth, of Arapahoe, who opposed it vigorously.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The legislature which has just adjourned has on the whole been a good one. It was a body of far more than the average intelligence and ability of state legislatures in general. All industries and sections of the state were ably represented. Of those gentlemen who made their mark during the session we may mention in the senate, Messrs Ellsworth, Helm, John, Parrish, Wolcott, and Webster, in the House, Messrs. Bromwell, Douglass, Todd, Toll, Phillips, Luthe, and Voorhies. Of the new men Judge Toll seems to have made the most reputation in the house, and Hon. L. O. Wolcott in the senate. The proceedings of the latter body showed a determined part on the part of the representatives to guard well the interests of the state. As an exception in the history of state legislatures, corporations seemed to have had no influence over this body. Every scheme was defeated which was in the interest of any one corporation as against any other corporation or the people at large. Though there was a strong lobby about the legislative halls, there never has been any suspicion of corrupt influences being brought to bear on the members. The legislature appropriated about $75,000 less than was appropriated in 1877. This of itself is good evidence of the animus of the legislature. If the legislature did not make any remarkable laws, it avoided a good deal of dangerous legislation that was proposed. Its spirit was eminently conservative as seen in the defeat of the anti-code and railroad bills. It is to be praised as much for what it did not do as for what it really did.

Two bills were passed which are especially interesting to the people of this county. One was the sheep inspector's bill which was introdnced into the house by Hon. Ivory Phillips. Some little opposition to the bill was manifested last week and a protest against the passage of the bill was signed by a few sheep men. The mistake of the opponents of the bill was in not showing their opposition earlier. The bill was published in the GAZETTE on January 18, with the especial purpose of letting our sheep men know the character of the bill, but not any objection was made until two weeks after, when the bill had passed the house and was being considered in the senate. Mr. Phillips would only have been too glad to have made any changes in the bill which would have been for the good of the sheep interest of the county. It is the design of the opponents of the bill now to circulate a petition requesting the county commissioners not to appoint an inspector and thus render the bill inoperative. If the majority of sheep men find the bill hostile to their interests, we presume the effort will be successful.

The other bill is the one putting El Paso county in the fourth judicial district, a measure whose wisdom has been somewhat doubted. Without entering into any discussion of the relative merits of Judges Bowen and Henry, we will simply say that there was no county under the latter but what wished to get out from under his jurisdiction, and there was no county under Judge Bowen that was willing to be put in another district. As the bill was first considered in the house Costilla county was taken from the fourth and added to the third judicial district to counterbalance El Paso and Park counties, taken from the third and added to the fourth district. But the Costilla delegation objected, and asked what wrong they had done to demand such a punishment, and so Costilla was put back in Judge Bowen's district. Politically, if such considerations are allowable, the move was a good one. It takes El Paso county out of a democratic district and puts it in a republican one, thus giving a large majority of the county something to say at the polls at the next election for judge. It also unites us more closely to the San Juan country, which obviously will be of help to us in the future.

We want to testify to the faithfulness of the members of the legislature from this county. They were always in their seats and on the alert for any measure affecting their constituents. In point of ability and influence our delegation was the peer of that of any other county. The voters of the county have no reason to doubt the wisdom of their choice on the first of October last.

In the executive session of the senate, Senator Conkling produced a private letter from Secretary Sherman to Collector Arthur which was reported to be at variance with the civil service doctrines which he professed. Secretary Sherman caused this letter to be published which speaks for itself. The letter is as follows.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16, 1878.
[Personal]

DEAR SIR. I inclose a letter from Justice Bradley, of the supreme court, strongly recommending his son for a position in the Custom House. The young gentleman will call on you and explain more fully. For manifest reasons, I would be very glad to oblige Mr. Bradley, who takes this matter greatly to heart, and I hope you may be able to give his son employment, as he no doubt is highly deserving and would be a meritorious officer. I have promised Mr. Bradley nothing definitely, but leave the matter with you, with the sincere hope that you may be able to comply with his request. Very truly, etc.,

JOHN SHERMAN

To Gen. C. A. Arthur, Collector Customs, New York.

SHERMAN'S DEVOTION TO PRINCIPLE.

There is an historical incident connected with the unhappy sectional feelings that preceded the war, that reflects immortal honor on John Sherman, which shows of what stern stuff he is made, and which should not be omitted in any allusion to his past life. In December, 1850, Mr. Sherman was selected by the Whig party as their candidate for speaker of the house. He had every prospect of gaining this prize, so desirable to men of ambition, but some one had discovered that a year or two before he had put his name to a subscription list for the purchase of a book (which he had never seen) which was presented to him as he sat at his desk in the house. The book was a treatise containing some severe strictures against slavery. Sectional feeling ran so high that many southern whigs took the ground they would not support Sherman unless he would disavow any disposition to support the doctrines laid down in the book and declare any purpose of antagonizing the institution of slavery. In other words, they presented to him the alternative of either purging himself of all intention to reflect upon southern slavery, or of being defeated for speaker. He might have done the former without loss of consistency or self-respect, for he had never exhibited any sectional hatred to the south, and was regarded as belonging to that class of northern politicians who were of enlarged national views. His votes in congress had uniformly shown this. In subscribing to the book he had no special wish or purpose, and did so mechanically, without consideration. Negotiations were carried on for some days. But, tempting as was the inducement, Sherman stood firm, and could not be moved. He would not barter away his honest opinions about slavery, or even by inference affect indifference upon the subject of slavery so far as his private judgment was involved. The southern whigs who objected were anxious to vote for him, if they could get some disclaimer from him, but all the persuasions of his friends could not persuade him to make any such terms with the domineering dictation of the advocates of slavery. He lost the speakership, but he saved his devotion to his principles, his own self respect, and the admiration of those who regard truth and virtue as having higher claims than ambition or the trappings of power.

Scribner's Monthly

Conducted by J. G. HOLLAND,

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now more than 70,000 monthly, and it has a larger circulation in England than any other American magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy-five original wood-cut illustrations.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR 1878-9.

Falconberg, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "The Man Who Lost His Name," &c. In this romance, the author graphically describes the peculiarities of Norse immigrant life in a Western settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to be begun on the conclusion of "Falconberg." This story will exhibit the state of society in Creole Louisiana about the years 1803-4-5, the time of the Cession, and a period bearing a remarkable likeness to the present reconstruction period.

THE "JOHNNY REB" PAPERS, by an "ex-Confederate" soldier, will be among the raciest contributions to Scribner during the year. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood, of Baltimore. The first of the series, "Johnny Reb at Play," appears in the November number.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series (begun in August with the portrait of Bryant) will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on tinted paper, as frontispieces of four different numbers. Illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

Among the additional series of papers to appear may be mentioned those on How Shall we Spell (two papers by Prof. Lounsbury). SHERMAN IN ATLANTA

The Manner of His Reception by the Georgians

History furnishes few more dramatic episodes than the one presented by the visit of Gen. Sherman to Atlanta. Seventeen years ago he entered this city at the head of a conquering army. In the near distance the guns of Hood's army boomed sullenly. Flying before the advancing legions, a cloud of women and children hurried from their homes. Breaking now and then through the din of drum and trumpet came the sharp crack of a rifle, as some man, maddened at the surrender of the city, fired on the victors, and then ended his protest with his life. Two months afterward General Sherman left the city. As he filed from the hills to the south of Atlanta, he turned and saw it enveloped in a cloud of smoke, through which gleamed the lurid flames as the old city, representing years of heroic labor, and hallowed with sacred memories, was melting into ashes. Hardly had the hoot ring of his horses died away before the work of desolation was completed. A mass of ruins marked the place where Atlanta had stood. A horrible expanse of charred and blackened wrecks stretched over these hills, and the dread gloom was broken only by the call of the sentry or the rumble of the army wagon.

Yesterday Gen. Sherman returned to the scene of this destruction and disaster, and looked upon the answer that our people had made to his torch. A proud city, prosperous almost beyond compare, throbbing with vigor and strength, and rapturous with the thrill of growth and expansion, stands before him. A people brave enough to bury their hatreds in the ruins his hands have made, and wise enough to turn their passion towards recuperation rather than revenge, give him decorous greeting. In this new city—in this new life—in this metropolis, planted amid the rakings of ash-heaps, his heart must kindle with admiration for the people who, rising from beneath his horse's hoofs, stanched their bleeding wounds, closed up their shattered ranks, and bent their unused hands to the labor of rehabilitation.

We give Gen. Sherman welcome to this city. We point him to Atlanta as a fair sample of the readiness with which the south has recovered from the desolation of a war that was cruel beyond precedent, as an evidence that our people, brave enough to die in opposing his invasion, have been brave enough to give themselves manfully to repairing the disasters that were scattered from his hands.

SHERMAN'S ARRIVAL.

Gen. Sherman reached the city on the 12:54 train on yesterday. He was expected on Wednesday, but switched off at Dalton and went down the Selma, Rome and Dalton railroad. A foolish rumor that he had a purpose in not letting the people know when he was coming was almost too absurd to mention. A large crowd collected along the sidewalks to see the general of the army. The depot was uncomfortably filled, mostly with white people. A sort of light, good humor pervaded the crowd, spiced up with curiosity to see the man who burned Atlanta. There was no perceptible indignation or feeling of prejudice. In most of the clumps of talkers there were jokes flying to and fro. One man proposed to Major Calhoun to go and offer the freedom of the city to Gen Sherman. "He made too d—d free with it," said an objector, "when he was here before." Another 'gentleman good-humoredly proposed that a procession of widows in mourning with bunches of pine kindling in their hands, be appointed to wait on the general and offer to facilitate his work. As the train rolled in a gentleman called, "Ring the fire bells!" The town will be gone in forty minutes."

A REMINDER OF THE PAST.

HDQ'S. MIL. DIV. OF MISS IN FIELD, ATLANTA, GA., Sept. 12, 1864

James M. Calhoun, Mayor. L. E. Rawson and J. C. Wells, representing City Council of Atlanta

GENTLEMEN: I have your letter of the 11th in nature of a petition to revoke my orders removing all the inhabitants from Atlanta. I have read it carefully and give full credit to your statement of the distress that will be occasioned, and shall not revoke my orders, because they are not designed to meet the humanities of the case, (but to prepare for the future struggles in which millions of good people outside of Atlanta have a deep interest.) We must have peace, not only in Atlanta, but in all America. To secure this we must stop the war that now desolates our once happy and favored country. (To stop war we must defeat the Rebel armies, which are arrayed against the laws and constitution that all must respect and obey.) To defeat these armies we must prepare the way to reach them in their recess, provided with arms and instruments which enable us to accomplish our purpose. Now, I know the vindictive nature of our enemy, that we may have many years of military operations in this quarter, and, therefore, deem it wise and expedient to prepare in time. The use of Atlanta for warlike purposes is inconsistent with its character as a home for families. There will be no manufactures, commercial or agriculture here, for the maintenance of families, and sooner or later want will compel the inhabitants to go. Why not go now, when all the arrangements are completed for the transfer, instead of waiting till the plunging shot of contending armies will renew the scenes of the past month? Of course I do not apprehend any such thing at this moment, but you do not suppose this army will be here till the war is over?

I cannot discuss this subject with you fairly, because I cannot impart to you what we propose to do, but I assert that our military plans make it necessary for the inhabitants to go away, and I can only renew my offer of services to make their exodus in any direction as easy and comfortable as possible. You might as well appeal against the thunder-storm as against these terrible hardships of war; they are inevitable, and the only way the people of Atlanta can hope once more to live in peace and quiet at home is to stop the war, which can only be done by admitting that it began in error and is perpetuated in pride.

We don't want your negroes or your horses, or your houses, or your lands, or anything you have, but we do want and will have your obedience to the laws of the United States. That we will have, and if it involves the destruction of your improvements we cannot help it.

But, my dear sirs, when it does come, you may call on me for anything. Then I will share with you the last cracker, and watch with you to shield your homes and families against danger from every quarter.

Now, you must go, and take with you the old and feeble, feed and nurse them, and build for them, in more quiet places, proper habitations to shield them against the weather until the mad passions of men cool down, and allow union and peace once more to settle over your old homes at Atlanta. Yours in haste,

W. T. SHERMAN,
Major General Commanding.

"THE LEADING AMERICAN NEWSPAPER"

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE.

For 1879 the Tribune hopes to continue with increasing success the work and the methods which through the year now ending have won such popular approval and for such ample fruit.

The Tribune is now spending more labor and money than ever before to deserve the confidence it has long enjoyed of the largest circulation among the best people. It is the only newspaper in the country maintaining a special telegraphic wire of its own between its office and the national capital. Its Washington dispatches are much the fullest anywhere published. Its London correspondent, George W. Smalley, is recognized as the foremost in that field, on the American press. Its other foreign correspondence ranks exceptionally high. Its scientific, religious and literary intelligence is rich and full, and generally more newsy than that furnished by journals expressly devoted to these specialties. Its critical departments, all conducted by the ablest heads, remain the acknowledged authorities.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE

Is specially adapted to the large class of intelligent rural readers too far from New York to depend on its papers for the daily news, who nevertheless want the editorials, correspondence, book reviews, scientific matter, lectures, literary miscellany, etc., for which the Tribune is famous. This is the cheapest, and, for remote country readers, the best edition of the Tribune published. It contains sixteen pages and is in convenient form for binding. It is far the most successful semi-weekly in the country—having four times the circulation of any other in New York.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE

Remains the great favorite for our substantial country population. A high authority has said of it that "The Weekly Tribune has done more to make good farmers and good citizens than any other single influence that has ever existed in this country." It is now larger than any of its rivals; its new form (sixteen pages, carefully indexed and suitable for binding), has proved exactly popular, and its large, clear type, so different from that of most papers of its class, is a special attraction. Its agricultural department, under the special management of an experienced agricultural editor, with a staff of several assistants, and a large corps of special contributors, is more carefully conducted than ever, and it has always been considered the best. Its market reports are the official standard for the Dairymen's Association, and have long been the recognized authority on cattle, grain and general country produce. There are special departments for the young, and for household interests, while poetry, fiction and the humors of the day are all abundantly supplied. During the coming year there may also be expected, among many other features, (1) Some Personal Reminiscences of Early Anti-Slavery Work by Oliver Johnson, (2) Further Contributions on Southern Agriculture, by Solon Robinson, (3) Occasional Papers on Current Topics, by the Rev. John Hall, D. D., (4) Occasional contributions by C. Hamilton, and other attractive matter from writers of equal note.

NO RIVALS TO COMPARE IT WITH

Both Weekly and Semi-Weekly Tribune are now entirely unlike the corresponding issues from any other daily office in New York—wholly different in form and appearance, with large type, and only comparable to the three and four dollar religious or literary journals. The price, however, remains so far below theirs as to defy competition, and the premiums are more valuable and substantial than have ever been offered by other newspapers.

THE GREAT PREMIUM.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED FREE

1 year the Tribune is offered to five years' new subscribers the unprecedented gift of Webster's Unabridged Quarto Pictorial Dictionary, which retails in all books stores for $12. This offer proved probably the greatest success in the history of newspaper premiums. Ere the end of this huge dictionaries were distributed, and not one single subscriber complained that he was disappointed with his premium. We have at last succeeded in renewing the very favorable contract with the publishers (which alone enabled us to offer this magnificent premium), until April 1, 1879. The publishers positively refuse to let it extend beyond that time. We therefore urge all to avail themselves of the offer at once, and to advise their friends and neighbors of the opportunity. We are extending the terms of the offer, this year, a little, as follows:

We will send Webster's Unabridged Pictorial Quarto Dictionary (edition of 1879), bound in sheep, to the latest and best edition, as a gift to any one remitting in $10 for a single five years' subscription, in advance, or, $16 for eight 1-year subscriptions to } THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

$15 for a single five years' subscription, in advance, or, $30 for ten one year subscriptions to } THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

$3 for a single three years' subscription, in advance, to } THE DAILY TRIBUNE.

We believe this to be the most valuable and practical newspaper premium ever offered. We cannot make it any more liberal, and to avoid useless correspondence we give notice that the dictionary will only be sent on exact compliance with the above terms. It is not offered, under any circumstances, to persons remitting for clubs at regular club rates. We do, however, make the following liberal offer of

PREMIUMS TO FRIENDS SENDING LOCAL CLUBS

For a Club of 5 Weeklies: Any five Tribune Novels

For a club of 10 Weeklies: An extra copy of The Weekly, or a copy of the Greeley Memorial Volume, in cloth, or any eight of The Tribune Novels

For a club of 20 Weeklies: The Semi-Weekly Tribune, or one extra Weekly, and either Mr Greeley's "Political Experience," or "What I Know of Farming." ($1 50 each at retail.)

For a club of 30 Weeklies: The Semi-Weekly Tribune, and any eight of The Tribune Novels, or Mr Greeley's "Recollections of a Busy Life," in sheep, $2 50 at retail, and the same Novels.

For a club of 50 Weeklies: The Daily Tribune one year, and either of the above mentioned books or the series of Tribune Novels.

One Semi-Weekly will count as two Weeklies in the above. Double numbers of the Tribune Novels count as two.

Instead of any five Tribune Novels, we will send preferred, pamphlet copies, in good type of the Tribune's verbatim report of The Prophetic Conference, and the Tribune's full exposure of The Cipher Telegrams. The same, in sheet form, in place of any three Tribune Novels.

Further information, posters, and specimen copies sent on application. Address simply

THE INTER OCEAN.

Weekly, $1.15; Semi-Weekly, $2.50; Daily, $10.00

THE INTER OCEAN is a political journal, stands confessedly at the head of the Republican press of the West, and as a reliable and reliable new paper has a reputation second to none. While it has never wavered in the support of party principle, has never failed to do its full duty in critical times, and has never been afraid to strike hard blows in defence of the Republican cause, it has never ceased to be a good newspaper, independent of all political and party considerations.

With the record of seven years' continuous work, and efficient service behind it as a certificate of character, THE INTER OCEAN enters upon the work of a new year, enters upon the work of a year the most important, perhaps, in its history, and the most momentous in the history of the Republican party. Issues are already forming for the great battle of 1880, and the country has never felt the need of fresh and able supporters of principle for the sake of principle as it will in the coming year. It has been the good fortune of THE INTER OCEAN to lead in the formation of public opinion, and to have a tremendous following. It has maintained this position as leader because of its unquestioned loyalty to the fundamental principles of the party, its boldness in defending them, and its fairness in discussing great political questions. As THE INTER OCEAN has sought the keynote of the contests in past years, Republicans will look to it as a faithful guide and leader in the coming year. And they will not be disappointed. The paper will stand, as it always has stood, the organ of no faction or clique, battling in the front rank for the principles that have made the country what it is.

THE INTER OCEAN expects to receive from enemies and opponents hard blows, and to return them with interest. From Republicans and friends it expects only such consideration and fairness as any political journal may claim at the hands of one interested in the success of the party and in the triumph of party principles. The issues are sharply defined. On the one side is the solid South aided by the Democratic party, on the other the Republican party. Naturally at such a time Republicans will turn to a paper able, aggressive, and of unquestioned loyalty. All that we ask is that they judge THE INTER OCEAN by its own utterances, and not by what Democratic organs and envious rivals say of it.

Outside of party considerations Republicans will choose the best newspaper. And in this particular THE INTER OCEAN has no superiors. It is in every sense of the word a national newspaper, presenting home and foreign news in attractive shape, and accompanying it with intelligent comment.

It will be as entertaining as any of its contemporaries, more accurate and more discriminating. For two years its cable dispatches have been fuller and of higher character than those of any other Western journal; its Washington and foreign letters decidedly readable, covering more topics of special and general interest, and its home correspondence more varied and more complete. All these departments will be continued, with such improvements added as experience may suggest and increased facilities for collecting news allow.

Independent of politics and news, men want a symmetrical, interesting, and wholesome journal for the family and home. They will find such a paper in THE INTER OCEAN, which devotes more attention than any other political newspaper to departments prepared and conducted with the wants of home and family in view. This applies to Agricultural, Domestic, Educational, Scientific, and Social matters.

The Curiosity Shop, covering answers to all sorts of political, scientific, and general questions, will receive more attention, even, than in past years, and will be a complete encyclopedia of information not accessible outside the great reference libraries of large cities. In this department THE INTER OCEAN has been without a rival, and, realizing the importance of the department, the publishers have made arrangements not only to maintain its high character, but to make it answer more completely the demands of subscribers.

The Home Department has within the past year assumed a new character and a new importance. It is the outgrowth of THE INTER OCEAN policy of fostering home interests, and, while it is unique in its freshness and its plan, it is unequalled in its interest and in the amount of suggestive and practical information on home topics.

The Agricultural Department will be in charge of one of the most experienced agricultural editors in the west, and will give each week timely hints, suggestions, and discussions of practical interest.

The Veterinary Department has become a standard authority among horsemen, and is republished from week to week in many of the Farm and Stock Journals of the country. All questions of subscribers as to diseases and treatment of stock are answered without charge by a distinguished and experienced specialist. This department will be maintained at its present high standard.

The Woman's Kingdom, devoted to women's interests and work, will be continued in the generous and conservative spirit that has made it so popular.

The Commercial Department has had a reputation for reliability and completeness all its own. It will remain in charge of the same editor, and will be made up with the wants of the readers in view.

In Fiction THE INTER OCEAN will present a serial by a popular western author, covering ground in the west not touched upon hitherto by writers of fiction, and replete with incident and adventure. In short stories, sketches, and general literary miscellany THE INTER OCEAN will pander to no low taste, but will give the best.

In these times of depression and scarcity of money, people will turn to the paper that is the cheapest. To meet this demand the price of The Inter Ocean has been reduced $1.15 for the Weekly, $2.50 for the Semi-Weekly, and $10 for the Daily. In short, the Inter Ocean will be a better paper than ever before, and will be furnished for less money.

We have heard of the poisoning of several dogs recently. On Sunday Mr. N. W. Bacon's pet dog "Snip" was away from the house only twenty minutes and came back poisoned. The little dog, if "only a brute," had a good many friends, who are terribly indignant at such a wanton outrage. A reward of $100 has been offered for the detection of the evil-minded one, which we trust will prove effective. We ca not put any charitable construction on such an act.

Funeral of Lafayette Shideler.

The funeral of the late Lafayette Shideler was attended from the residence of his father, on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock Seldom has there been such a gathering as that which assembled on the occasion, and the expressions of sympathy and condolence for the afflicted family, and regret at the untimely death of the young man were very general.

The services were conducted by Rev J A. Stayt, of the Methodist church. His remarks were peculiarly impressive and comforting. The remains were afterward interred in Mt. Washington.

Mrs. Johnson's Piano Recital

The grand recital given by Mrs S Oliver Johnson at Opera House in Court House hall last evening, did well in every respect. It was a brilliant success; so much so, indeed, that it is a matter of no small difficulty to single out any particular feature for special mention. There is no denying, however, that the large attendance upon the recital and the enthusiastic reception of Mrs Johnson by the music lovers of our city, assumed the form of an ovation to that lady. Certainly no fault can be found with the programme upon the ground of brevity, for the liberality which presented seventeen numbers, to many of which such names as Beethoven, Abt, Chopin and Weber were subscribed, can call for nothing but gratitude and admiration. Notwithstanding these classic names, the concert was a popular one, popular in the best sense, in testimony whereof we present the

Madame Rita
16 Nocturne in B flat major ..... Chopin.
17 Ventre a Terre ..... Kowalski
Mrs. Johnson

A glance at this programme is sufficient to apprise the intelligent lover of music that its popularity rested upon a sound basis, and that the lighter elements were introduced with rare good taste. It is not our intention to talk learnedly of technique, or to make comparative criticisms, indeed comparisons have been alleged upon excellent authority to be odious, but it is our privilege and our purpose to speak a pleasant word of a pleasant thing, and if need be a word of warning, if it appear that such a word shall prevent mistakes or promote enjoyment in the future.

The Sonate Pathetique, with its variety of movement and its unity of theme, executed as it was with a serene yet tender pathos, formed a noble beginning to a melodious and harmonious evening. Mrs Johnson gained at once the sympathy and approval of her hearers, and when she arose from the piano she received their spontaneous tribute of applause. It was a pity, however, to have the effect marred by the confusion caused by the tardy entrance of late comers.

While Mrs. Johnson's rendering of the classic masters received and merited the serious and intelligent approval of her hearers, yet, as is invariably the case in general audiences, the lighter and more ephemeral music received the most marked testimonials of appreciation However, No. 5 of the programme, the serenade from Don Pasquale, arranged for the left hand, was given with such power and fluency, that it demanded and obtained emphatic applause

The "Recollections of Home," Mills, with its floral decoration, woven about a trellis of familiar themes, at once caught the favor of the audience and the technical skill of the performer together with the ingenuity of the adapter received their due recognition at its conclusion.

When is not a song welcome, especially the song of a favorite, and a favorite song? The arch humor of "Kitty's Letter" found a happy exponent in Madame Rita, whose flexible voice seems especially fitted for such bits of sentimental playfulness. Indeed, Madame Rita's contributions towards the enjoyment of the evening were neither slight nor inconsiderable, her efforts were sincere, and her success undoubted. Her songs lent a variety very desirable in the programme of an entertainment intended to be popular. Madame Rita is a favorite, and she deserves to be. In response to the encore of the fifteenth number, Madame Rita sang with real tenderness and feeling "Home, Sweet, Home," the ever welcome master-piece of that homeless wanderer, John Howard Payne.

And the violin solo by Signor Buffa! "The Carnival of Venice" variations beloved by violinists, and especially affected by Ole Bull, that white haired wizard of the north, who sees with evident anguish his younger rivals, Wilhelmj and Remenyi, usurping his kingdom. Age cannot wither nor custom stale its infinite variety. And, indeed, Signor Buffa plays with no uncertain touch, and of a surety, with no uncertain welcome. This fact received a marked confirmation for at the conclusion of the number, Signor Buffa was enthusiastically re demanded, and responded with a charming an abounding in harmonic modulations

We should like to speak more in detail of the individual numbers, but must be satisfied with the general statement of the uniform excellence and consistency of the whole programme which was interpreted from beginning to end with feeling, intensity and power. Not the least remarkable feature of Mrs. Johnson's recital was the fact that she played entirely without notes

The correct and discriminating accompaniment by Miss Minnie Edwards deserves much commendation.

WARD'S EXAMINATION!

Arguments and Decision To-Day.

Testimony All In.

The preliminary examination of Joseph Ward for shooting Lafayette Shideler, Friday night, was yesterday carried before Justice Stewart, At 1 o'clock in the afternoon a large crowd of persons interested in the proceedings of the trial assembled before the justice's office and filled it to such an uncomfortable extent that Mr. Stewart very wisely moved to the larger room at the city hall. Gen Danford represented the defendant and Wm Harrison, Esq, the people. The prisoner pleaded not guilty to the charge of shooting with intent to kill.

John Kranz testified nearly as at the coroner's inquest. He said, "We, Shideler, Zutavem and I, left the house at the same time. Mr. Shideler first knocked and I made the second knock. Zutavem was below the porch in front. I said 'we have two dollars to give you.' I didn't have any two dollars, and cannot say what I did mean by the remark. None of us kicked the door, and I saw no hand-sled I heard no blow against the door. I have been to the house before I was there on the previous Saturday night."

Marshal Dima testified as to the arrest of Ward, and by Ward's request accompanied him into the house Ward pointed out the hole made in the door, saying he could have shot all three by opening the door, but thought one would do. Ward told him that he was in bed when the panel was broken and jumped out and fired.

Edward Bradley testified to Ward's coming to his house after the shooting. "Ward told me that he had shot a man and the mob was after him. He wanted to go through my house. I refused and Ward left me."

Mrs. Kate Sage was sworn and told of going to the house after the shooting. "The panel was broken from the door, and a hand-sled was on the porch when I arrived. I got to the house at the same with several officers."

Eddie Ward—a child of apparently fourteen years of age, the daughter of the prisoner, next appeared and testified in a clear decided manner. "The party stepped upon the porch and wanted to get in. Pa said he had nothing for them and they said that is too thin, and told pa they had two dollars for him. They wanted to know where ma was and pa answered, She has gone up the road. The men used some very bad language and kicked the door. In a little while after the kicking the men threw the sled against the door Pa then got up and kneit on his left knee and putting his gun on his right knee shot out through the hole made in the door. There was only pa, brother and I in the house. Pa shot as soon as he could get to the door after the panel was broken The men acted noisily and appeared to be drunk. The sled was lying when I last saw it before the shooting about 35 feet from the front of the porch. I never told Mr. Clark, when he came into the house, that I did not know who did the shooting, and I did not tell him we had all been asleep"

Edward Stephenson, who with C. B. Jenkins, accompanied Mr. Clark to the house, said: "I heard the conversation between the last witness and Mr. Clark on the night of the shooting and I have also heard the testimony just given. The girl said to Mr. Clark in my presence that they were asleep and did not know who did the shooting. I returned to the house when Mrs Sage arrived and saw no sled on the porch."

Mr. Clark testified to the same effect as Mr. Stephenson, and asserted that in his opinion no sled was on the porch when he arrived.

Dr. Strickler who attended Shideler testified that he came to his death from the effects of his wound. Dr. Horn testified that it was possible that a man, wounded like Shideler, should walk some distance without falling.

The defendant, Joseph Ward, was here sworn and gave the following testimony. "I am a freighter between Colorado Springs and Leadville. I returned to my home, at the house where the shooting occurred, Sunday evening last. My wife left home Thursday morning. I retired Friday night at about eight o'clock. I was lying in bed and was asleep when the dogs made a racket. I spoke to them when I heard a noise on the porch. The party came with a rough manner and called out 'open old man, we have a couple of dollars for you.' They asked for the old lady and I told them she had gone to Leadville. One of the party then kicked the door. I could see him through the window curtain and I cocked my gun. One stood at the left of the door and he knocked it the second time and he it was that kicked the door. It was not ten seconds after this party kicked the door that the sled was thrown. After the sled was thrown and the door broken I jumped from the bed and shot through the hole without taking aim. I think I knelt on my right knee. After shooting my gun I jumped back for my pistol I did not aim to kill anyone, and had not the least intention of killing anyone. I leveled the gun without taking aim. One of my children said, "Pa, you have shot one of them" I took them for robbers, and shot to let them know I was ready. I had $245 with me at the time I did not know what struck the door until after the shooting. The children said "it is the sled," and one wanted to move it away, but I told them to let it remain I jumped from the bed to the door in about half a minute, and fired as soon as I could get there. I expected a second attack.

The testimony was finished at about 5 30 p m, and the trial postponed until to day at 9 30 a m, when the argument will be heard by Justice Stewart in Justice Smith's old office.

An Ordinance to be Enforced.

The ordinance concerning misdemeanors, section VIII. of article I. reads as follows:

No bawdy-house, house of ill fame, house of assignation or place for the practice of fornication, or common, ill governed or disorderly house, shall be kept or maintained within the limits of the city of Colorado Springs, and every person who shall keep any such house, or shall be an inmate of or in any way connected with any such house, or contribute to its support, and every person who shall permit any tenement, building, premises, in his or her possession, or under his or her control, to be used for any such purpose, and every person who shall permit any building which shall be used or occupied for any such purpose to stand upon any lot or parcel of ground within said city, owned, held possessed, or controlled, either as the agent of the owner, or otherwise, by him or her, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, on conviction, forfeit and pay to the City of Colorado Springs, a sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars for each offense

Both the Taylor and Shideler tragedies were caused by the presence in our city of houses which, under the above ordinance, should have been closed by the city authorities. We cannot say that our officers have been remiss in their duties, but it does seem as though they should have known of the existence of these horrid dens of vice. But we do not wish to make any complaints regarding the past, but speak for the future. If it shall appear that Ward's residence was a house of ill-fame, we ask that its inmates and the owner of the building shall be prosecuted and punished as the ordinance provides.

We have been informed that this city also contains houses of similar bad repute. Our authorities should immediately investigate and, if so, punish all parties as the law directs. No real estate owner who knowingly lets his houses for such purposes is entitled to any consideration. We are glad to state that as yet this vile business has been carried on in the city in a very quiet manner, but even in this form it should be banished. The fair name of our city demands that there should be no compromise with or toleration of it in any form.

Side-Walks

All young towns are very apt to pay very little attention to their sidewalks. Owing to the peculiarity of our soil and the care with which the town was originally laid, we have been hitherto peculiarly fortunate in these matters Hitherto no alignment has probably ever been given by the corporation to parties building, so as to regulate the level of the walks; each individual being left to his own devices and to suit his own convenience regardless of his neighbor. It is time, we think, that this were done in the business part of the town. The public have a right to ask this from the corporation, in order to prevent the hideousness which is beginning occasionally to appear, whereby all symmetry is destroyed and the public made to suffer perhaps for the convenience or thoughtlessness of one man. Let the city authorities look to this at once. It is time as we have said that this were done in the interests of the city.

A Short Lesson in Deportment.

It is strange, but true, that there are individuals possessing many of the outward signs of the gentleman and the lady, yet who are absolutely devoid of all regard for the decencies of society, or the requirements of civilization In such individuals, their attendance upon a public meeting, a lecture or a concert, appears to arouse all the boorishness in their nature. The bad taste and vulgarity of those who voluntarily place themselves in the attitude of listeners, and then persistently insult the person who is endeavoring to entertain or instruct them, and maliciously mar the enjoyment of all who may be so unfortunate as to sit near them, by loud whispers and vapid laughter, the bad taste and vulgarity of such persons would be mournful if it were not exasperating. There were a few, we are glad to say, only a few, such persons present at Mrs. Johnson's recital last night, and all who are conscious of a feeling of resentment as they read these lines may consider themselves as personally addressed.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Notwithstanding the fact that thousands of our people are at present worrying themselves almost to death over this vexed question, even to the extent of neglecting their business, their homes and their duty to their families, there are still thousands upon thousands of smart, hard working, intelligent men pouring into the great Arkansas Valley, the Garden of the West, where the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad offers them their choice of 2,500,000 acres of the finest farming lands in the world at almost their own prices. If you do not believe it, write to the undersigned, who will tell you where you can get a cheap land exploring ticket, and how, at a moderate expense, you can see for yourself and be convinced.
